Open up Windows Explorer and head to the folder where that file used to reside, click the "Home" button and click the File History icon on the right side of the Ribbon.. That's actually all it takes — your computer will start backing up regularly with no intervention from you.. If you want to tweak how often it backs up, click "Advanced Settings" in the left sidebar. With Test Disk you can head back to Control Panel > File History and click "Restore Personal Files" on the left sidebar.

Super Block, copy deleted files from partitions to recovery media. Both approaches have grown and lets you restore files from much more specific periods in time.
